

SPOTTED

RATFISH

(Hydrolagus colliei)

- ✈ These are actually cousins to sharks and rays, also cartilaginous fish in a group called "Ghost Sharks!"
- ✈ They are relatively small, only reaching around 3 ft (1m) in length!
- ✈ They have 2 rabbit-like teeth, composed of sheets that continually grow throughout their lives instead of many individual teeth like humans!

- ✈ Its tail is very long! In fact it's about the same length as its body!
- ✈ They live in a range of depths, from very deep to shallow waters in the Pacific Ocean.
